“Do your little bit of good where you are; it's those little bits of good put together that overwhelm the world.” ~ Desmond Tutu

A huge thank you to everyone who made the 2024 Dills Celtic Festival a success. Enough can't be said about the the coordinated effort made by the planning committee, NYCHAPS staff, volunteers, vendors, entertainers, and many others to bring it all together. The festival attracted over 1200 guests in what could be best described as typical Irish weather... blustery and wet. In spite of this, the wonderful musicians, dancers, and demonstrators did a fine job of entertaining and educating visitors.

Events such as this, require a huge volunteer workforce to ensure success. For the Celtic Fest alone, there were 70 volunteers doing everything from set up, monitoring parking, taking in sales, welcoming guests, taking care of garbage/bathrooms, assisting vendors, docenting, security, managing raffles, and cleaning up when the event was finished. NYCHAPS could not function without all the volunteers who lend their time, talents and and good hearted spirit to make a difference in our community. Consider getting involved! It is a great way to meet people, learn about local history, and support community events. We accomplish great things when we work together! Check out our website here for more information.

Mini Blanket Chest finds a home!

Maggie Little, of Clan Little, was the winner of the mini blanket chest raffle at Celtic Fest! The beautiful chest was crafted by Dills artisans Clair Zeiders, Jason Metzger, and Karen Phillippi. Congratulations, Maggie!

NYCHAPS: A Focus on Collections

Part Two - Objects

In the last issue we detailed the photo collection in the NYCHAPS Archives. This month we will concentrate on the other objects in the collection. We have over 15,500 more cataloged items in a wide variety of categories collected over the last 40 years, representing life in the greater Dillsburg area.

There are large collections of advertising and local business concerns, school related objects and records. The Farmers Fair and various civic groups are represented too. We have local newspapers, all types of documents, both family related and legal papers, letters, ledgers, deeds, and books of all kinds. The works of local artists are also represented. We have textiles and clothing, military uniforms and related accessories.

We have some rare items like a Civil War Surgeons Case (pictured above), a circa 1810 Franklin Guards Militia Hat, currency issued by the Dillsburg National Bank to name a few. There is also a large collection of postcards (CVRR station example below, right) and much more. This year we will be sharing some of these objects on weekly Facebook posts, so be on the look-out for those.

The vast majority of our collections have been donated by individuals or civic groups although we have purchased some objects outright or at auctions. Some folks donate one item, some have donated hundreds.

We are always interested in acquiring unique items which help tell our local history. So before you throw something out, give us a call. Some of the items are on display in our museum room and available to view by the public during Maple Shade Barn business hours. Access to the actual archives is by appointment only but we are happy to show anyone firsthand our local treasures.

Dillsburg Adds Two Historic Markers to York County's Civil War Trails Program

Recently, Dills Tavern and the Maple Shade Barn were added to the multi-state Civil War Trails program. This positions Dillsburg as a perfect place for travelers from New York and the New England region to begin exploring Civil War Trails. Additionally, the increased visitation will be heightened since the two new stories are related to the Battle of Gettysburg which is popular internationally.

With the addition of these new sites in Dillsburg, the Civil War Trails program now offers over 1,500 sites across six states. Each site is actively marketed by a coalition of state, regional, and municipal tourism partners which means that while the signs might relay an educational story the program's goals are focused on sustainable economic development. According to Civil War Trails research, visitors to historic sites are interested in hiking, cycling, and paddling, live music, arts, craft beverages and historic downtowns. This 'pairing' works well for the team at the Northern York County Historical and Preservation Society (NYCHAPS) who operates both sites.

Doug Riley, President of the NYCHAPS Board of Directors, was thrilled. "We are excited to join the Civil War Trails program. We look forward to attracting new visitors and introducing them to the Historic Dills Tavern site, the new Eichelberger Distillery and the historic significance of the Maple Shade Barn." The project resulted from a partnership between the Historical Society, Civil War Trails, Inc. and Explore York. Explore York's tourism grant program provided the funding needed to create and install the signs and Explore York's continued membership with the Civil War Trails program will enable the partners to market the site to visitors.

For more information, request a visitor guide at www.Yorkpa.org or call 717-852-9675. To find out more about Civil War Trails visit www.civilwartrails.org. Be sure to snap a #signselfie and post it with #civilwartrails @exploreYorkpa.
